

IN THE NEWS:

High Profile Cases, Qualified Experts, Personalized Service.

While Capsicum may be a boutique forensic and cyber-security shop and not necessarily “headline news” we have played a large role in some very high profile cases. We’re the team working diligently behind the scenes conducting investigations to find key pieces of evidence and tracking down criminals. When it comes to computer forensics, cyber-security, electronic investigations and testimony, Capsicum’s team of experts is second to none.

Check out some of our recent work.

The Philadelphia Inquirer

Tues., October 21st, 2014 • Philadelphia Media Network • 82

Facebook Sues Law Firms

Featured in The Philadelphia Inquirer – October 21st, 2014

Capsicum identified falsified documents. Now Facebook plans to file suit against several law firms for “conspiring to file and prosecute a fraudulent lawsuit.”

Featured in The Wall Street Journal –
October 15th, 2014

The Capsicum team was an integral part in the data collection, processing and analysis of hundreds of devices into the investigation of one of the largest trade secret infringement cases to date.

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Fri., October 17th, 2014 • Philadelphia Media Network • 82

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 2014 - VOL. CCXL NO. 52 - 8888 $1.00

HILTON READIES BOUTIQUE REBOOT

The Philadelphia Inquirer

Fri., October 17th, 2014 • Philadelphia Media Network • 75

Pendergrass Widow Wins Ruling in Estate Battle

Featured in Philadelphia Inquirer – October 17th, 2014

Capsicum’s forensic investigative skills led to the uncovering and verification of the fraudulent estate document that was disputed by Teddy Pendergrass’s widow and son. The judge ruled that the testimony of Ted Pendergrass Jr. about the will was “wholly lacking in credibility” and we had the “falsified” document to prove it.